Quick Standard Precaution Protection with StatPaq™

INDIANAPOLIS - May 11, 2009/PRESS RELEASE/ The H1M1 virus (swine flu) is refocusing the healthcare community on the importance of reducing the spread of infections. Standard precaution protection is more important than ever for basic prevention of spreading infections. Designed for patient care settings where contact with transmissible infections may occur, the StatPaq Standard Precautions Kit provides a simple infection control solution.

The StatPaq provides “grab and go” convenience with all the items needed for standard precautions in one package. Each individually wrapped StatPaq contains:

- ◀ One barrier protective gown
- ◀ Nitrile gloves (2 sizes)
- ◀ Shoe covers
- ◀ N95 particulate mask
- ◀ Protective eyewear

In many healthcare facilities protective items such as gowns, gloves and masks are located in multiple places and are not easily accessible. StatPaq Standard Precaution Kits prepackage these items in one kit. The kits come in wall-hanging dispensers that can be placed throughout a hospital for convenience and accessibility. Having StatPaq kits readily available enables healthcare providers to comply with standard precautions, protect themselves, and their patients.

StatPaq standard precaution kits are ideal for any patient care setting, including hospitals, clinics, private physician practices, and in the field for first responders. Free StatPaq samples are available by visiting <http://www.dqeready.com/statpaq>, or calling 1-800-355-4628.
